BIOGRAPHY

Sarah is an HCPC Registered Occupational Therapist and a case manager with a specialisation in working with clients who have suffered catastrophic injuries, particularly acquired brain injuries and orthopaedic injuries. Her expertise covers a wide range of clinical areas, including orthopaedics, general medicine, amputees, renal, neurology, and chronic pain. However, the majority of her career has been focused on community-based brain injury rehabilitation.

Throughout her career, Sarah has worked in various settings, including hospitals and communities, in different countries such as England, Australia, and New Zealand. She conducts client-centred assessments to identify individual needs and goals. Based on these assessments, she formulates action plans that support clients in achieving their maximum potential in daily activities and tasks.

Sarah's work involves close collaboration with clients and their families. The purpose of this collaboration is to ensure that treatment is coordinated, timely, and effective.

Her vast experience allows her to consider the unique circumstances of each client, considering the psychological, cognitive, physical, and social impact of trauma on their functioning and quality of life. Sarah is skilled at identifying clients' needs and supporting them in achieving their goals within their own environment.

Sarah has a particular passion for all things equine, making her well placed to assist in injuries specific to this area.
