BIOGRAPHY

Daniel has over 15 years' experience working in brain injury with complex clients in a variety of setting from secure hospitals to community rehabilitation.

Daniel is a qualified physiotherapist and is skilled at assessment, goal setting and managing multidisciplinary and transdisciplinary teams to deliver safe and effective rehabilitation for complex brain injury clients. Identifying risk and developing risk management strategies is a skill that Daniel has refined over years of working with skilled clinical teams.

Prior to working as a case manager Daniel led a multidisciplinary/transdisciplinary team of health professionals and medics who achieved goal centred outcomes in rehabilitating brain injury clients and reducing levels of challenging behaviour to enable the client to optimise their rehabilitation potential.

Many of the clients Daniel has worked with have physical and complex mental health presentations that require careful and well-planned management to set, work towards and achieve client centred goals.

Daniel has a track record of transitioning clients from secure hospital environments into community living with the right level of support to keep them safe in the community whilst optimising their rehabilitation and independence.

A significant part of Daniel's work is maintaining continuous and effective communication through the client's care from the moment of the first assessment. This requires regular reviews, informing families and extensive communication with health professional who are involved in the client's care.

Daniel regularly receives positive feedback from instructing parties about the quality of reports and the expert knowledge and support given to client's and their families.
